MY CHANSTON & NORMAN 127 THAMES STREET.

THURSDAY MORNING, NOV. 13, 1851.

We trus! that the Whigs, all over the State, will make far more than their ordinary efforts to carry the State next Spring. In order to accomplish this, all the preliminary arrangements, such as Ragistering names, &c., must be attended to in good season. Now is the time to begin, and the Whige of every town should at once organize, and appoint suftable Committees to attend to this important work. Care should be taken that the name of every Whig who will be qualified to vote in April, is upon the Registry List, and then that each one's Tax is seasonally paid, - that is, within three day's of the time of voting.

The Whigs can easily redeem the State, if they will; and, we feel confideat that the conflicting elements which have distracted the loarly for the last two or three years, will be so harmon! ised, that the whole Whig strength will be available, and be brought to bear most effectually against our opponents. We have every reason to believe that this will be the ense, -and if it is, there will be no difficulty in deteating the locefeces, and rolling up an old-furbioned Rhods Island Whig majority. Without this, we cannot undertake to predict the consequences which will ensue .-The locofocos have done as much as they dared to, this year, - and as much as Gov. Allen would allow them to,-He is ashamed of his company, and has controlled them as well as he could, although it is difficult for any man, to hold much influence over such a crew for any great length of time.

In Massachusetts some of the towns which failed to elect Representatives Monday, tried again on Tuesday, and with fair success to the Whige-The Legislature now stands 169 Whigs, -143 Coalition, 118 no choice. Hi the Whige will come out boldly at the next trial, we shall save the legislature, and thus secure our State officers.

MARRY FOR Love .- Marry for love, and labor diligently together afterwards for the good things of the world, is both a wise and a hearty motto for the young of both sexes. For love in the married state will over be found the best promoter even of those very prudential and tedustrious dispositions which most conduce to its ultimate worldly prosperity; while withou! it there is always a conjual dissatisfaction of massion, disposing ite victim more or less, according to temperament, to practical excessess in seems direction. At all events, the want of it as in the case of the long unmarried, must naturally originate some vague craving for social compensation, the more insidiously unfavorable to constacy of conduct from its very vague-

THEARICAL MAGNETIC ENGINE. A public exhibition of the various engines invented by Professor Page, was made in New-York Monday evening in the presence of a large number of scientific gentlemen, among whom was Mr. Harwell, late Chief Engineer in the U. S. Navy, Mr. Kemble, and many other engineers of ability and eminence. The engine consists of a line of heli-ces, in the angular openings of which is placed a bar of iron, representing the picton of an ordinary engine. This bar is susmined by magnetic force in the atmosphere, concentric to the inner opening of the helices. To the end of this is attached the shackle-bar, communicating with the crank and fly wheel. The termini of the helices is represented by bits of metal arranged along the side of the helical cylinder, and on these is moved, by an ercentric, a piece of metal which communicates the electrical current alternately to each helix-causing the attractive force to move the magnet or piston, from end to end of the evlinder of believs, as in the cylinder of the steam engine. The effective force was tested by impinging a weight on the periphery of the fly wheel, the effective weight being about 2,700 pounds -the engine making 80 revolutions per minute, and the circumference of the fly whice 13 feet 37 inches. Its effective force was also exhibited in driving a circular saw, through long pieces of wood, three and four inches thick, sawing at the usual speed. The electrical light given off when the cylinder was uncovered, was intense and speleor and white as to strongly resemble daylight. A Rotary Engine was also experimented with, showing that the power obtained could be applied to any form of engine.

Mr. CLAY .- During a portion of the ecssion of the House on Monday, the the venerable form of the Sage of Ashland was seen upon the floor. He was greeted with the respect due to his great character. Time is evidently doing its work upon his body, but the great soul is untouched; and we were gratified to learn that there has been a decided improvement in his physical health within the last two or three weeks. He expects to leave home for Washington, about the 16th inst .- [Frankfort (Ky.) Commonwealth, 5th.

BARE-PACED.-The Russian Govern-Wer's great number in the Provinces. It is said that travellers, who arrive at the gates of Warsaw, are immediately turned over to military barbers, who cut off their beards.

Ecrope.-Galignani's Paris Messenger says: "There is hardly a great city of Europe which one might not suppose to be inhabited by wild beasts rather then citizens, such is the for-midable character of the means employed to secure its tranquillity and obe-dience. Ramparts from on the people from the riverside or the brow of the hill; there are barracks and guardlumes in every quarter; there are troops always in movement; the drum never ceases; at every public place you may stumble on a groupe of soldiers, ready to turn out on the approach of the officer in command; and you may feel as illitwere not so much a city camp you are dwelling in. France is hardly more unfortunate in this respect then the other great Powers of Europe; but there are, we believe, still about a hundred thousand soldiers in the departof the Scine, and Lyons, a mere manufacturing city, is policed by more than thirty thousand."

We esteem in the world those who do not merit our esteem; and neglect persons of true worth; but the world is like the ocean—the pearl is in its depths, the sea weed swims.

IMPORTANT IF TRUE. -- Philadelphia Inquirer has the following dispatch from Washington, under date of Nov. 10, P. M :

"We learn from reliable authority, that the Spanish Minister demands, under the instructions of his Governmen that our Government shall invite back the Spanish Consul, who fled from New Orleans during the Guban excitement in that city; that he be brought back in an American naval vessel: that our Government salute his Consulate flag raised on board the yessel, and that his effects. and the effects of other Spani haubjects, destroyed by the mob, be restored. In the event of our Government refusing to make this apology, Senor Calderon de la Barca, the Spanish Minister at Washington, is instructed by his Government to demand his passports. We learn to demand that Mr. Webster refuses to make the required apology in such a shape."

THE DEATH OF A WIFE. -"The death of a man's wife," says Lamartine, "is like cutting down an ancient oak that has long shaded the family mansion.-Henceforth the glare of the world, with its cares and vicissitudes, falls upon the old widower's heart, and there is nothing to break their force, or shield him from the full weight of misfortune. It is as if his tight band were withered; as if one wing of an angel was broken, and every movement that he made brought him to glassy, and when the film of death falls over them, he misses those accustomed tones which would have smoothed his passage to the grave."

The good understanding which grows up between the citizens of the two countries at Great Exhibitions and Boston Festivals, is Extractions and Boston Pestivals, is worth a thousand hollow ententes cerdiales with sovereigns, who hate Great Britain only less than they fear her.
